Hymn of Reflection Afflicted Saint to Christ Draw Near

All whom the Lord loves, He chastens." So may I learn to take up my cross — and to endure the trials of my lot. And if I am to be an example of suffering affliction — then may God's will be done — in His way — and in His time!

William Purton, 1868

"...we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, and hope does not put us to shame.."

Romans 5:3-5

Change in Communion

As you know, the Elder's have chosen to change our practice of closed communion. Beginning Sunday, March 3rd, we invite all who are baptized Christians and members in good standing of a gospel-believing church to participate in the Lord's Supper. For any questions &/or concerns, please see one of the Elder's.

Afflicted Saint to Christ Draw Near

The original lyrics to this beautiful hymn were written by John Fawcett in 1772. In 1858, Charles Spurgeon preached a sermon on the scripture text for this hymn, Deuteronomy 33:25, "As thy days, so shall thy strength be;" Below is an excerpt of the sermon...

Children of the living God, be rid of your doubts, be rid of your trouble and your fear. Young Christians, do not be afraid to set forward on the heavenly race. You bashful Christians, that, like Nicodemus, are ashamed to come out and make an open profession, don't be afraid, "As your day is, so shall your strength be." Why need you fear? You are afraid of disgracing your profession, you shall not; your day shall never be more troublesome, or more fun of temptation, than your strength shall be full of deliverance.
